

National Severe Weather Warning Service

Chief Forecasters Assessment

Very high temperatures have triggered scattered thunderstorms which have developed over the Grampians and are drifting towards the Moray coast. Although not everywhere will get the thunderstorms, where they do occur, some intense downpours are likely. Storms will gradually die out during the evening,

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 16:15 on Thu, 24th May 2012 until 22:00 on Thu, 24th May 2012

Localised thunderstorms will give accumulations of 25 mm in an hour into this evening. The public should be aware that surface water will give hazardous driving conditions.
